TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Rocklabs is a manufacturing company that designs and builds sample preparation equipment for the mining industry. We currently export to 88 countries.

As we have grown we have had the need to employ more trade and technical staff. In New Zealand this has proved to be a difficult task and has in the past been a limitation to our growth as a company.

Several years ago we decided to use a recruitment agency to help us source appropriate staff. We were very impressed by Scientific & Technical Recruitment Ltd's attitude and attention to detail, taking time to visit our factory on a number of occasions to really get a feel for our company's needs.

Scientific & Technical Recruitment has served us well over the last 3-4 years, recruiting a number of staff to suit our needs, e.g. tradesmen (fitters & turners, electricians), graduate engineer and logistics manager.

Rocklabs has had complete satisfaction dealing with Scientific & Technical Recruitment, their attention to detail, background checks of the candidates and fitting the person to our needs.
